FREE!

For the purpose of introducing our valuable Washing Preparation known as the Housewife's Friend, we will send to any address, on receipt of two three cent stamps to prepay postage, a Sample package free.

This preparation is unlike any other, it being as harmless as Spring Water. Clothing washed with it will wear longer, as it is not so much rubbing. [illegible] Its effect in hard water is almost magical, making it as soft as rain water. It really costs nothing to use, as it saves more than its cost in soap and [illegible] nothing of the time and labor saved. It is hoped that all who have washing to do will avail themselves of the free trial package. We want some reliable person in every town to introduce and keep for sale this really valuable and fast selling article. Address

HOW DOES THE COLORADO BEETLE TRAVEL?

An investigation of the question shows several facts of interest.

During the first few years of its occupation of western territory its eastward march was comparatively slow, and the late Mr. Walsh, then State Entomologist of Illinois, calculated that it would reach the Atlantic in 1881. Mr. [illegible], the State Entomologist of Missouri, who knows more about the potato beetle than any other man living, predicted it would reach the Atlantic shore in 1878—but in fact it was found here in 1874, having rapidly increased its rate of travel during the latter years of its eastward march. An interesting point in connection with its occupation of territory is found in the fact that its [illegible] most rapid spread was along the line of greatest human travel and traffic; indeed after it had reached New York [illegible] it began to extend and swarm both north and south [illegible] [illegible] the Mississippi [illegible] the wings of the little traveler [illegible] its progress. Its spread, says Riley, [illegible] of the country is not to be attributed to its powers of flight alone. It undoubtedly availed itself [illegible] of every means of transportation afforded to the travelers, and often got a lift on eastern bound trains, [illegible] most probably crossed the more barren plains bordering its daily [illegible] directly by being carried. In 1874 the beetles crossed Lake Erie on ships, waves, boards, chips, and any other floating object that presented itself, while the Detroit river [illegible] swarmed with them. Ship [illegible] who have crossed Lake Michigan have reported that decks [illegible] and crowded with them, and it made its [illegible] into Canada at the extreme south of Lake Huron and the southwest corner of Lake St. Clair, having been [illegible] from the Michigan side. The beetles [illegible] water [illegible] [illegible] them to Europe [illegible] [illegible] between the two continents.

THE STRIKE IN THE "TRIBUNE" OFFICE.

[illegible] Everything [illegible] stacked of types [illegible] the editorial staff furnished three compositors, but the reporters did themselves proud by furnishing seven, and some of them very good workmen too. I took a look into the composing room about 11 o'clock. [illegible] for once and light entertained [illegible] some of the boys had made their way through college with typesetting, and one was the son of a well known college president, [illegible] graduated from [illegible] offices. One and all were very proud of their all [illegible] work. One set of seven takes with but a single letter wrong. Besides these there were perhaps twenty compositors who had been gathered in. Down stairs the chief editorial writers were condensing market reports and the like so as to make the burden of composition lighter and reading proof. Everything was running smoothly, and the whole staff seemed to be getting a great deal of fun out of this typographical [illegible] Away down in the street was a black crowd of strikers kept in awe by the police, [illegible] cursing Reid to their hearts content and predicting that he would have to call them back before midnight. Then they were going to charge him fifty cents a thousand. When they saw the paper come out on time with its ten big pages all filled, I suppose they made up their minds that they had mistaken their man.

Indeed, it is said that the best generalship came before the strike, when precautions were taken against a breach of faith on the part of the men. A list was prepared of men that could be had at a moment's notice. New sets of rules were made, so that if the printers carried off the old rules with the idea of preventing the setting of type, there would be no trouble. Every point of this sort was provided for. In short, the striker who walked off saying "Reid's rather green, and we propose to teach him a lesson," has probably changed his opinion.

That day was Saturday and there being no Sunday edition, the Tribune had two days to choose a force of compositors. But Sunday night every case was filled at the Tribune's terms, and scores of applicants had been turned away, and the next morning it was announced that no more vacancies existed except for exceptionally fast workmen. Members of any typographical union were warned not to apply under any circumstances or at any price. Since then there has been no change in the situation. The Tribune comes out as usual, and the old Tribune force are out of situations. They walked out with their eyes open. Mr. Reid assured them that if they struck after pledging themselves not to strike, not one of them should ever re-enter the service of the paper. The twenty or thirty years' service of some of them could not atone for such a trick, and he will keep his word better than they did theirs.

Time alone can show whether Reid has not killed Typographical Union No. 6. No such blow has ever been struck before at this wealthy and powerful trade union.—Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.

SUGGESTIONS TO HOUSE BUILDERS. First, let your cellars be large, well ventilated and lined with stone or cemented above the level of the ground. The breath of life in furnace-heated houses depends literally on the air of the cellar, unless there be a flue for fresh air extending from the furnace out-of-doors (never the case in cheap, showy houses.) The air of the whole house is sucked through this narrow and often unclean apartment, the care of which is usually intrusted to ignorant servants. We have spoken in a previous number of the malaria engendered by massing quantities of vegetables in the cellars as is the practice in farm-houses during the winter. The lining of stone or cement not only prevents dampness but is absolutely necessary in streets through which the sewers pass, as a protection from rats. Terriers, ferrets, traps or poison are feeble defences against the legions which swarm in nightly from a neighboring culvert. Next to the cellars comes the kitchen, which should be large, airy and sunny. To take no higher ground, conveniences in this department are a politic investment which pays a full interest of capital especially to the house keeper who does not live in a large city. Stationary tubs, closets beneath the dressers for flour, dry groceries, spices, etc., will be likely to tempt into her household a better class of servants, and when she is forced to turn cook and baker herself will take half the burden from her weary hand. An addition to comfort much neglected by builders is the lighting of stairways, closets, pantries. We have in our mind's eye a modest little house in a lovely built neighborhood of dark dwellings which gives you a sunny, cheerful welcome at every corner, a result produced not only by windows wherever a wind [illegible] is practicable, but by sky lights of [illegible] [illegible] A mistake more also which resolves itself into a question of humanity, is the placing [illegible] [illegible] the kitchen. [illegible] single wood pillar supports [illegible] upper surface [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the figure [illegible] [illegible] model of [illegible] costume [illegible] fashioned [illegible] [illegible]

The [illegible] Zoe [illegible] [illegible] to work. In some mysterious manner she imitates the motions of an artist's arm with [illegible] [illegible] presses her [illegible] [illegible] across her [illegible] [illegible] promptly circles her hand from one point of the drawing board to another [illegible] last [illegible] [illegible] from the paper and transfers it [illegible] to [illegible] and finally lowers [illegible] hand when the sketch is completed. She does not [illegible] merely the [illegible] of writing [illegible] a drawing which she might be considered and set to do. She executes anything that is in a mind to do, in other words she can write any letters or numbers called for and design forms and pictures impromptu according to the ability of the secret operator who must certainly govern her movements. The figure is absolutely detached and isolated, hence the multifarious and complicated movements it is capable of producing border on the marvellous.

"Zoe" bears no resemblance whatever to the celebrated androids of Le Droz, the Swiss mechanician, of Maillardet, the French mechanician, or of Robert Houdin, the great conjuror and subtle inventor. They were ingenious pieces of clock work and nothing more. Thus, M. Le Droz's figure was the size of life. It held in its hand a metallic style, and when a spring was touched, so as to release a detent, the figure immediately began to draw upon a card of Dutch vellum previously laid under its hand. After the drawing was executed on the first card, the automaton rested, and five other cards being placed in succession it delineated upon the series of six cards that number of different subjects. Two of them were likenesses of the King and Queen, and one feature of merit consisted in the precision with which the figure lifted up the pencil in its transit on from one point of the drawing to another without making the slightest mistake. The writing and drawing automaton invented by M. Maillardet, was the figure of a boy kneeling on one knee, and holding a pencil in his hand. The attendant dipped the pencil in ink and adjusted a small sheet of drawing paper, upon a brass tablet and, upon pressing a spring, the figure began to write. When the line was finished the hand returned to dot the i's and cross the t's. It executed beautifully just four pieces of writing in French and English, and also three landscapes, the time occupied being about an hour. Robert Houdin also constructed a drawing figure which was remarkable for its life-like imitation of the motions of the arm and hand in using a pencil, and for its faithful and exact execution of minute details in sketching and in writing. But in all these pieces of mechanical apparatus the path traversed by the pencil point was guided by tracers resting against the peripheries of slowly revolving, circular, or rather shapeless, wheels or barrels, on which were made indentations and waving elevations comfortable to the lines of the picture to be drawn on the card. The work in their case was limited; Zoe, as has been stated, can do anything within the ability of her secret operator.

Republican State Convention.

The Republicans of Maine and all others who purpose to support the candidates of the Republican party in the pending election, are invited to send delegates to a State Convention, to be held in for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, to be supported at the September election, and to attend to such other business as may properly come before the Convention.

GRANITE HALL, AUGUSTA,

Thursday, Aug. 9th, 1877, at 11 A. M.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation is entitled to one delegate and one additional delegate for every seventy-five votes given for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1876. A fraction of forty votes over the number which is entitled to one delegate, will be accorded a delegate. Substitutes are earnestly requested for towns of the county in which they reside.

The Republican State Committee will be in session in the ante room of the hall at two o'clock the morning of the Convention.

By order of the Republican State Committee.

JAMES G. BLAINE, Chairman.

J. H. Sutton, Secretary.

LOOKING FACTS IN THE FACE.

[From the Boston Traveller.]

The Republican party was organized to promote the cause of human rights. It has been eminently, and ought to be unceasingly, the friend of liberty, equality and progress. It fought against the extension of slavery; it fought for the salvation of the Union, and it gave freedom to three millions of blacks; it abolished the curse of caste, that the spirit and letter of the Declaration of Independence might prevail in the South as well as in the North, and every man, of whatever race or color or condition, might be entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and finally, it decreed that every citizen within the limits of the Union should be protected in the enjoyment of his rights. It took the whole power of the Government to do it. Through all the history of the past twenty-five years, the Traveller has been among the foremost of those who upheld these principles, it has supported the Republican party and the Republican leaders because they have represented those principles, and whenever the party or the leaders abandon them the Traveller parts company with the party and the leaders, because principles are dearer than men or party organizations.

"It is a self-evident fact which will not bear concealment, that to a great extent this Administration has abandoned those principles. We are not dealing with motives, but with facts, and we propose to present the facts just as they are. When in 1865 the Southern rebels ascertained that they could not break up the Union in order to establish their hateful caste dominion, they resolved to gain the same object by destroying the life of the nation from within. When, in 1872, certain disappointed Liberals" ascertained that they could not break up the Republican party in order to make a party which should obey their whims, they resolved to gain the same object by destroying the life of the party from within. On more than one occasion these conspirators have co-operated for the destruction of the principles which the Republican party has secured to the Union. The Hamptons and the Hamburg Butlers have swung the life out of equality in the South by violence and social intolerance. The Stanley Matthews and the Carl Schurz have steadily weakened the Republican principle while lending behind the pretense of befriending it, and the present Gov. Hayes was nominated they resolved by fair means or by foul, to obtain control of his Administration for the purpose of turning it against that principle. Governor Hayes's first mistake, before his inauguration, was in listening to the deceptive overtures and bugbears of those conspirators, for by that means he was led into a labyrinth of disasters from which it is difficult to retreat, beginning with the abandonment of the legally elected Republican Governor, and the refusal to use every means to protect the rights of the Southern Republicans.

It cannot longer be doubted that the whole surrender-policy was the result of previous agreement between the conspiring rebels and the conspiring liberals, forced upon the President by deception at first, and subsequently maintained by the necessity of self-preservation. Nobody doubts now that the moral influence of the administration was thrown against the Southern Republican Governors, and that this is what did the mischief. The withdrawal of the troops was a mere cover for the real offence for the elected State officers could have adminis tered the affairs of their offices well but for the very positive and emphatic discouragement which they met from the President and Cabinet, pretending to represent the Republican party. In a word, the administration of President Hayes has weakly encouraged the conspiring ex-rebels and ex-liberals to use his administration for the promotion of their own base purposes. He does not protect personal and political rights in the South; he does not insist upon the enforcement of the constitutional guarantees, but he does allow the disloyal chiefs of the South to go on in their career of suppressing free speech, free ballot, and equal rights.

We wish we could say otherwise, but the facts will not justify it. The results are before us every day. The late local elections in South Carolina show that the spirit of the freedmen is crushed by the great discouragement of the policy. Every expression from the Republican South, outside of the Federal offices, confirms this. Federal officers who are obnoxious to the oligarchy, are resigned by the administration upon various pretences. The Kemper county murderers and the night riders and regulators everywhere go unpunished and are "amnestied" to continue the work of repressing all "opposition." The State constitutions are undergoing revision for the purpose of obliterating their national features. The schools are already passing through a process which must destroy their efficiency for promoting the education of the freedmen. Every opportunity is seized to gratify the ex-rebels, and to discourage the loyal people. Under such circumstances the earnest Republicans in the South are oppressed by a tyranny no less burdensome than that which prevailed under slavery, and many of the whites are fleeing to the North, while the blacks are organizing for emigration to other countries.

These facts do not admit of a doubt that the policy is rebuilding the shattered structure of the old, intolerant, despotic Southern oligarchy, and paving the way for its control of the Nation. Equal rights are at the root of State rights, and if John C. Calhoun were alive to-day, he would rejoice in the triumph of his great governmental Lobby—a more thorough triumph than he ever could have anticipated in his fondest dreams during the days of slavery.

Shall we, who have upheld the principles of freedom and equal rights for all in times when slavery was legalized, now see that freedom is unfully the heritage of all, submit quietly to a relapse that means bondage worse than chattel slavery—a bondage that forces the loyal minority to elevate the minority to political power and maintain it there? We are taunted with the assertion that we are making a useless fight because the policy is an accomplished fact, and it is impossible hereafter for the National Government to stand guardian over the persecuted citizens of the South. We were taunted before the war in the same way, slavery was an accomplished fact, and the fugitive slave law was the policy which it was impossible for us to change. Nevertheless, we fought the good fight which liberated the slave, liberalized the Constitution and cemented the Union into a Nation capable of protecting the rights of citizenship everywhere within its borders as well as in Mexico or in Europe. We propose to continue the present fight until the fruits won by that long struggle are secured beyond doubt, beyond danger from the assaults of foes or the neglect or treachery of friends. In a Republic like this, there is no question worth discussion beside that of guaranteeing the rights of the citizen at all times and everywhere. The President has adopted another policy, and there and so far as that policy is concerned, we part company. It is not a personal difference, but a difference between policy and principle. We are not discussing motives, but we distrust and denounce the policy as a menace to Republican institutions, and we do this now the more earnestly because it is not to late to prevent a recurrence of the awful political domination which prevailed before the war. The Nation is not committed to the State-right policy, and it is our duty to say that the President does not represent the Republican party in trying to engraft it upon our political system.

A South Carolina despatch says that a meeting of white and black citizens of the region known as the scene of the Ellenton riot, was held Wednesday, and adopted resolutions looking to the cessation of racial troubles and to the dropping of the prosecutions in the courts.—Lewiston Journal

Yes, and that same Charleston despatch concluded with this significant statement:

The promoters of the Liberal emigration scheme claim to have enrolled the names of twenty-five hundred colored persons in this city and thirty thousand in the State, who consent to emigrate.

We can imagine the sort of meeting of "white and black citizens" gotten up to make a basis for telegrams to counteract the evidences of the despair of the colored people of South Carolina, and then, there is no such unanimity of concession in dropping the prosecutions of the murderers of colored Republicans during the late campaign. Here is some more information, from the Boston Herald, a paper that would like to represent the colored people as contented under rifle-club despotism, if the facts would but allow it. It says:

A southern letter writer says the negroes in and about Charleston, S. C., are wild with excitement regarding emigration to Africa, and that movements tending to this result are already far in progress. Every member, male and female, of one colored church in that city is preparing to start, and only transportation is awaited at present, and for this the Government and the colonization societies have been petitioned. In this scheme, the writer says, the negroes are as much in earnest as they ever can be about anything, and the most intelligent and best informed among them are the most enthusiastic in the matter.

THE STATE MUSTER. In all probability—though the fact is not definitely settled—the next State muster will be held in Augusta. There seem to be a general desire on the part of the Militia of Maine to continue their annual encampment six days instead of four. To meet this desire, and at the same time to keep within the limits and purposes of the legislative appropriation for the encampment, Adjutant General Cilley has issued a circular asking each company commander to immediately ascertain and report to headquarters whether the company under his command will agree to accept four days' pay for an encampment commencing Monday and closing Saturday of the same week. Rations will be issued for six days. It is necessary that the reply should reach the Adjutant-General's office before July 18th, as the order directing an encampment must be issued thirty days prior to such an encampment. In case the companies agree to this, the troops will go into camp on Monday of muster week, and strike their tents on Saturday.—Kennebec Journal.

Bigotry, intolerance and inhumanity were permitted to disgrace Montreal on Thursday, and, judging by the telegraphic reports, the cowardice and inefficiency of the authorities was disgusting. The abandonment of their unquestioned right to parade by the Orangemen failed to satisfy the brutal instincts of the rabble who disgraced the name of religion by making it the pretext of murderous violence. The Catholics claim the right to parade the streets of any city with full display of their distinctive banners and regalia, but they assume to dictate that any order which they do not like shall not appear in public save at the peril of assault by a mob. With an ample military force at hand to maintain order, the failure of the Mayor of Montreal to take any steps for dispersing the mob seems to have been utterly disgraceful.

A Washington special to the Boston Traveller says: "A prominent Louisiana Democrat writes here from New Orleans that Gov. Nicholls has endeavored privately to stop the prosecution of members of the Returning Board, but that he has been met with the threat that if he attempts to defeat efforts to secure the conviction of Wells, Anderson and others, or if they are convicted and he interposes an executive pardon, that he will be impeached by the Legislature. The tone of the letter indicates unmistakably that the movement against the Returning Board was not an impulsive act of local politicians, but in pursuance of a well defined plan concocted by leading Northern Democrats."

Perhaps there is something worse than being a Republican, but that is beginning to be regarded as the most serious offence in certain quarters. Here is one of those specimen despatches from the Boston Advertiser:

The Democrats of South Carolina have been trying for several weeks to secure the removal of Collector Worthington of Charleston, who has made himself very obnoxious to the people on account of his pronounced Republicanism and work in behalf of the Republican party of the State. Those efforts have, however, failed, and Senator Patterson has received assurances that Worthington will not be molested, for the present at least.

In passing an order for separate schools for whites and blacks, the New Orleans School Board very coolly nullified the Constitution of the State which declares "there shall be no separate schools or institutions of learning established exclusively for any race by the State of Louisiana."

THE BEAUTIES OF CONSISTENCY.

[From the Chicago Inter Ocean.]

Postmaster General Key has been called upon again to construe the late Presidential order in regard to officials taking part in politics. The friends of a Pennsylvania Postmaster want to run him for County Treasurer, and the P. M. calls upon Mr. Key for advice. Mr. Key, in his answer, refers to an executive order made by President Grant, Jan. 17, 1873, which says that persons holding any Federal office by appointment under the Constitution and laws of the United States will be expected, while holding such office not to accept or hold any office under any State or Territorial government," and claims that he (the P. M.) cannot become a candidate without violating this order and the one lately issued by President Hayes. For, he argues, inasmuch as you cannot "occupy both offices at the same time," you should not become a candidate for the one while you are holding the other. Mr. Key evidently has a short memory, or else he has a special desire to quietly rebuke his chief. It will be remembered that when President Hayes was nominated for the Presidency, he was Governor of Ohio. He did not hesitate to accept the nomination on that account. He did not resign his position as Governor after accepting nor after he was elected until within a few days of the time he was to be sworn in as President. In this course Governor Hayes was fully justified by the people. Still it was well understood that he "would not hold the two offices." Governor and President, at the same time. Has not Mr. Key strained the point a little? Would not his construction of official duty have required Governor Hayes to resign his official position as soon as his nomination was announced? It seems to us that a nomination for a Federal office would interfere with a State office just as much as a nomination for a State office would interfere with a Federal office. There may be some recondite difference; if so, will the Postmaster General please throw a ray of light on it?

THE TEXAS PACIFIC JOB.

[To the New York Times.]

The Texas and Pacific scheme cannot be considered the end of the subsidy business, if once entered upon. On the contrary, it is only the first of a series. Its passage by Congress is, in any form whatever will whet the appetite of adventurers in every quarter of the Union. Necessary and useful legislation will be forced, to give way to clear unlimited demands. Civil service reform and every other reform will be trampled down in the inevitable rush for subsidies and guaranteed bonds, and nothing can be imagined so likely to harrass Mr. Hayes in the present and humiliate him in the future as any complicity with so demoralizing a transaction.

[For the Boston Journal.]

The New York Times says that it is "the duty of every Republican convention which may assemble during the summer and autumn to put on record its condemnation of the attempt to revive the subsidy system." No matter whom it hits, the protest should be so emphatic as to let no Northern public man can disregard it without subjecting himself to imputations fatal to his future." The suggestion of the Times is timely.

Mr. Watterson has not progressed much in his prospects of the Courier-Journal he declares that the questions of the war are over, and that the politics of his paper hereafter will be of the Tom Scott order; that is, that he announces that it will advocate schemes for Southern improvement, to be made, of course, by drafts upon the Federal treasury.

What does the Mexican lobby amount to? For years there has been a Cuban lobby at Washington, and what has it effected? Mr. Tom Scott has kept a vigorous Texas-Pacific lobby at Washington, but thus far it hasn't effected anything.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, July 11.]

A delegation of twenty Texas Republicans delighted the Press last night with a call on Tuesday, and talked about Southern affairs, and especially about the longest-for Texas subsidy. They went away feeling very happy over this remark of the President: "I desire to see the country developed to its utmost capacity, and am of opinion that internal improvements will conduce to that end."

THE TAILLESS AND TEETHLESS FOX

Gail Hamilton's missionary efforts have produced very little reformatory effect on the Boston Journal. If we may judge by the following paragraph in a recent issue of that paper:

"A Pennsylvania Republican and Tammany office-holder writes the Portland Press that he is disgusted with the 'chatter' about the reform of the civil service. As the 'chatter' means action, it is quite probable that such gentlemen as above referred to are disgusted at the prospect."

There are three gross falsehoods in these six lines, which is a tolerably large proportion even for a newspaper that is boastful of its superiority to the weaknesses of ordinary human nature. The first two are probably made in reckless ignorance of the facts; the third consists of a wilful garbling of the letter it pretends to criticise. Great indeed is the reform whereof the Boston Journal is the prophet.—Portland Press.

The stand that the Boston Journal has taken in regard to Southern demands and civil service reform reminds us of the fable of the fox that lost its tail in a trap and called around him all the other foxes to show them how much more becoming it was for foxes to dispense with this appendage. Having early endorsed the compromise measures of the Administration the Journal now finds that it has become politically deformed and is laboring hard to induce all other Republican journals to get into the same trap—trying to make people believe that a large majority of Republicans are favorable to the Southern "conciliation" policy, but the Journal might learn from Iowa and New Hampshire, that most of the Republicans prefer being their own humbling. The conciliationists are getting into a tight place and it may be no easy matter to extricate themselves.—Biddeford Journal.

That eminent, reliable and highly influential citizen known as "Dr. Jordan" modestly appears in print as the self-appointed spokesman of the Democrats of this city, and informs the public just how the "solid Democratic vote" will be cast on a question affecting business and financial interests, unless the former Ward lines are restored. We imagine that many of our Democratic business men will think Jordan had better subside.

The speech of Senator Blaine has attracted much attention. It will be found in full on the outside of this paper, and is well worth of perusal. Probably those who are to-day loudest in their cries of its absurdity and folly, are the veritable aiders and abettors in the scheme so forcibly denounced by Mr. Blaine.—Ellsworth American.

The amount of mail service under contract on the 1st of July was $16,751,039.23 per annum, distributed geographically as follows: New England, $1,118,331.80; Middle States (including Virginia and West Virginia), $3,250,804.11; Southern States, $2,733,993.42; Western States (including Missouri) $5,805,676.72; Pacific States and the Territories, $2,788,431.00.

The Boston Advertiser has progressed far enough already in reconciliation to conspicuously quote the doggerel of the Louisville Courier-Journal ridiculing Sanford, Blaine and Governor Chamberlain. That stroke of boot-licking ought certainly to bring Boston a few Kentucky orders for "bolfoneys."

The "whitewash" which the President wished us to wait for is coming in clusters. On Thursday, the announcement of the disbanding of the Republican party in Mississippi, and on Friday's Boston Advertiser we hear that from Virginia:

Several of the most prominent Republicans of Virginia have had a conference, and agreed that nothing can be gained by making any nomination for State officers at the approaching election. The Republicans will, therefore, "fish and their State Committee.

The policy organs have received a valuable reinforcement. The Bangor Commercial comes out as a champion of the Administration and lavishes its compliments upon the Republican papers that excuse the surrender policy. When the offspring of the Bangor Democrat puts Republican papers on the shoulder and commends their utterances as "calm, able and argumentative," the average mind will suspect that there must be something rotten in Denmark."

The Cincinnati Chart, a sturdy Republican paper, has never been a policy organ. It now says:

It is not in the nature of a genuine Republican to give a servile endorsement to everything that emanates from the White House. The press has something to say about the public policy of the country, as well as the President, and, holding a nearer relation to the people and having a better opportunity to ascertain their real sentiments, the Republican press is bound to be true to the rank and file of the Republican party, as well as to the Republican President.

The New York Tribune says "Senator Blaine, when in New York two or three days ago, was very outspoken in his denunciation of the Louisiana movement against the Returning Board. He said it only motive must be a desire for anarchy, and the Republicans who were most opposed to the President's Southern policy would stand as one man for the lawfulness of his title to his high office."

The Bourbon neighbor will probably find the following editorial remark of the Portland Press of Friday less "caustic and argumentative" than it would desire:

It will not need many more acts like the Chisolm massacre and the indictment of the Louisiana Returning Board to convince the country that whatever the President's genius sports, the old element of the South deserves no confidence or trust.

The Boston Transcript comes to the rescue of the much abused Ben Hill of Georgia, as it calls him, and shows how much more of a patriot he is than Mr. Blaine or Governor Chamberlain.

The Boston Transcript thinks Thomas Talbot would honor any office to which he might be elected. But if Mr. Talbot were a candidate for Governor the Transcript would probably go for the rum candidate, as it did two years ago.—Lowell Courier.

MAINE NEWS.

FROM BRUNSWICK.

After Commencement—The Maine Historical Society.

BRUNSWICK, July 13. To-day closes the exercises of Commencement Week here, the meeting of the Maine Historical Society and examination of candidates for admission to the College being the principal features. The chapel, picture-gallery and Cleaveland Museum were thrown open for visitors and the campus was lively with the fair sex and their escorts.

The Meeting of the Maine Historical Society was held in their rooms at 3 o'clock, President J. W. Bradbury, presiding. After reading of reports and minutes of the last meeting the following officers were then chosen: President, J. W. Bradbury; Vice President, W. G. Barrows, Recording Secretary, Prof. A. S. Packard; Corresponding Secretary, C. W. Hayes; Librarian and Cabinet-Keeper, Prof. A. S. Packard, Treasurer, Marshall Cram; Auditors, W. G. Barrows and C. J. Gilman; Standing Committee, C. J. Gilman, Joseph Williamson, J. M. Brown, S. F. Dike W. G. Barrows, R. K. Sewall and G. E. B. Jackson. An amendment to the by-laws was made in regard to reducing members or placing them on an honorary list. The question of restoring the family monument of Sir Ferdinando Georges was brought up and a subscription was taken for this object. The following members were elected: E. E. Bourne, Kennebunk, L. A. Emery, Ellsworth, E. B. Neally, Bangor, J. W. Porter, Burlington, Arthur Sewall, Bath; Thomas H. Haskell, Portland; Henry Deering, Portland, Henry L. Chapman, Brunswick; S. J. Young, Brunswick; H. G. Storer, Scarboro, J. P. Cilley, Rockland; H. W. Richardson, Portland. These are resident members. The following were elected corresponding members: Dr. J. S. H. Fogg, Boston; D. G. Haskins, Jr., Boston; John S. Jenness, New Jersey. Thanks were voted to Charles Deane of Cambridge, Mass., for gratuitous labor in getting out vol. 2 of the Documentary History of Maine. Field day will be held about the first of September at the head waters of the Sheepscot river. The committee appointed to carry out the programme are R. K. Sewall of Wiscasset, Dr Lapham of Augusta, and C. J. Gilman of Brunswick.

College Candidates.

The number of applicants for admission to the Freshman Class at the first examination was 49, one also applied for admission to the Sophomore Class.

Of the number of those examined for admission to the Freshman class, 47 were admitted.

FROM MACHIAS

A Brig Launched.

MACHIAS, July 13. Launched at East Machias this noon, brig Mary T. Kimball, 472 tons, built and principally owned by S. H. Talbot. Brig Ellen M. Mitchell is at Machiasport and will go on the ways for repairs.

FRANCE

Gagging the Press

LONDON, July 13. The Marseilles newspaper "L'Egalite du Peuple" has been prosecuted for reporting the trial for insults to President McMahon.

FROM FOXCROFT.

Dwelley & Co.'s Spool Factory Burned.

DOVER, July 13. The spool factory of I. H. Dwelley & Co., in Foxcroft, was totally destroyed by fire last night, together with a large quantity of sawed lumber. The cause is supposed to have been the bursting of a steam pipe. Loss estimated at $80,000, insured $12,000.

FROM SACO

Recaptured.

SACO, July 13. John Todd escaped from Alfred jail last night and was recaptured here this forenoon

DOMESTIC NEWS.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Dynamite Explosion

PORTSMOUTH, July 13. A terrific explosion occurred at 1 o'clock this morning from a dynamite cartridge placed on the ground in front of Rice's bakery, the concussion breaking nearly all the windows in Rice's and many adjacent buildings. The object of the perpetration cannot be divined

NEW JERSEY.

Striking Silk Weavers Arrested.

PATERSON, July 13. Two striking silk weavers were arrested and sent to jail to-day to answer to a suit for damages in not finishing their warps according to contract. The warps are worth $800 each and it is claimed were greatly injured by the men abandoning them. The silk weavers will to-night take action to defend the suits.

THE INDIANS.

Despatch from Gen. McDowell.

WASHINGTON, July 12. Gen. McDowell telegraphs a despatch he received from Col. Scully, saying Chief Joseph is receiving accessions from the reservation Indians and suggests that two hundred volunteer Washington Territory or Oregon troops be called for immediately to prevent them joining Joseph and prevent any damage they might inflict. Col. Scully is an old Indian fighter. The 2d infantry have not yet started in accordance with McDowell's order and as McDowell can scrape together only four skeleton companies, he recommends the calling of 200 volunteers from Oregon or Washington Territory. The despatch being submitted to the Cabinet the President has ordered a call for the 200 troops and McDowell is authorized to increase the number to 500 if necessary.

WASHINGTON.

Is the President an Autocrat?—All government Officers to be Politically Emasculated.

WASHINGTON, July 13. J. P. Hamilton, Secretary of the Kansas Republican Association, called on the President to ascertain whether the lately promulgated civil rules applied to persons holding office in the various State associations. The President said he was under the impression that these associations were simply social, but on being informed that a large amount of political work was done by them he emphatically asserted that no person in the government employ would be allowed to take any part whatever in political affairs. If the associations were of a social character there would be no objection to their continuance, but politics must be eschewed. Some persons have understood civil service rules to apply only to actual working hours or time belonging to the government, but the President distinctly states that no political services can be rendered by government employes at any time while he holds such position, even though it does not interfere with his duty, as it is his intention to forever divorce politics and the civil service so far as in him lieth.

The Alleged Spanish Outrage.

The State Department is without any information concerning the reported Spanish outrage upon sch. Rising Sun except that contained in the Associated Press despatch from Boston, but has ordered a thorough and immediate investigation of the matter with a view of obtaining full reparation should the published statements be in any degree verified.

Cabinet Meeting.

The Cabinet were in session to-day until nearly 3 o'clock. Some time was occupied in a discussion upon the affairs of the New York Custom House and a proposed reduction of the force, in that branch of the public service was made, but no conclusion reached. The matter will be further considered by the President and Secretary of the Treasury and may yet be further considered by the full Cabinet. Foreign officers were not a subject of attention, either as refers to the appointments abroad or concerning our relations with Spain or Mexico.

A Profound Conclusion.

The prevailing Indian war was the principal matter of consideration and engaged a considerable portion of the long session. It is regarded as necessary to take every proper method to end and forever the hostile demonstrations of the Indian tribes.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES

Four seamen of the brig C. C. Sweeney, of Harrington are imprisoned in Havre, France, awaiting transportation to this country for trial on charge of murdering the mate of the vessel, shortly after she started early last month from Havre for New York.

U. S. Marshal Payne of New York has received orders from Attorney General Devens to enforce the Presidential order prohibiting employes from taking part in politics.

Indications.

For New England—Stationary or lower pressure and temperature, variable winds, partially cloudy weather and possibly rain areas.

FOREIGN NEWS.

THE EASTERN WAR.

The Russian Victory.

CABLE SPECIAL, July 13. The dispersion of thirty thousand Turks Tuesday by Tergukasoff at Bayazid, shows that the recent apparent withdrawal of the Russian troops was part of a general plan to draw the Turks from their intrenched positions. Melikoff with the Russian centre reinforced, is advancing on Mukhtar Pasha, who is entrenched near a pass in Sangaula mountains, instead of having relieved Kars.

Destitution in Bulgaria.

A Bucharest despatch says the Russians are obliged to take not only full supplies of food for their army in Bulgaria, but also for the starving inhabitants, as the Turks have completely devastated the whole country of forage, cattle, grain and destroyed all the store-houses.

A Turkish Denial

The Turks deny that they were defeated at Bayazid and claim that the bombardment of the citadel is already begun, the garrison having refused to surrender.

Preparing a Grand Turkish Assault.

KARS, July 13. Mukhtar Pasha and the commandant of Kars are preparing a combined attack on the Russian centre of 45 battalions of infantry, two regiments of Cossacks and 13 field batteries. More than 30 siege batteries are in position, four thousand metres northeast of Kars.

The Russian Advance

LONDON July 13. The Russian advance detachments have reached Gebrova, near the southern boundary of Bulgaria.

Many Mussulmans with their wives and children, fleeing before the Russians, have been killed by Bulgarians between Turnova and Kezanlik.

A Russian official despatch from Tiflis states that the Turkish force has been defeated.

The advance guard of another Russian corps has arrived at Pialesti. It is stated that a camp for 60,000 men has been prepared at Ploiesti. A battle is expected at Eski Djumandja, where the Turks are concentrated in great force.

Report of Another Battle.

LONDON, July 13. The Telegraph's Pera correspondent sends the following, dated Friday evening

I have just heard on good authority that the Russians have been attacked simultaneously by Osman Pasha at Plevna and by Ahmed Eyoub Pasha at Monastir. The fighting lasted all day Thursday and Friday.

The Times Bucharest correspondent says it is officially reported to-day that Rustchuk is blockaded by the Russians. The Czar has arrived at Fratesti on the Bucharest and Giurgevo Railroad, where, according to some accounts he is about to take up his residence.

The News' Bucharest correspondent reports, under date of Friday night, rumors are afloat that serious but as yet indecisive fighting is going on in the neighborhood of Biela Corest.

THE MONTREAL RIOT.

The Killing of Hackett.

NEW YORK, July 13. A special from Montreal gives the following account of the killing of Hackett:

After a dozen shots had been fired a tall, strange man name not known, got hold of Hackett's left hand with his own left hand and a fearful duel followed, each holding a revolver in his right and each firing at the other, while both struggled for mastery; the crowd also keeping up firing during the life and death scuffle. At last after wrestling some time, standing on their knees, Hackett went under and his antagonist putting the muzzle of his revolver to the unfortunate man's temple shot him dead instantly.

The Victim.

Hackett was of medium height, thinnish face, with dark, straight hair and light thin moustache. He wore a dark coat with trousers and vest of a tweed of a reddish mixture but had no regalia or orange colors on at the time. After the affray a silver mounted revolver was picked up on the doorstep, this pistol belonging to deceased.

Inaction of the Police.

The crowd lingered a long time on Victoria square in front of Dunn's and no attempt to disperse was made by police who reached the scene of riot in force in time to remove the body, and returned to Central station almost immediately without accomplishing anything. The conduct of civic authorities in handing over the city to mob rule causes intense indignation, and the inactivity of the police will require to be explained hereafter.

The Crowds Dispersed—The Coroner's Inquest.

MONTREAL, July 13. Last night passed over without any trouble, the crowd dispersing about 10 o'clock with less than the average arrests, and none for anything serious. Complete absence of drunkenness prevailed. The Coroner's Jury was sworn in the case of Hackett this morning, but the enquiry is postponed until to-morrow. Arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed.

An Indignation Meeting.

A conference was held this morning between the leading Orangemen and the Presidents of the National Societies for the purpose of calling an indignation meeting to condemn the Mayor for not affording protection to life yesterday.

The reported death of Brown is not true, but he is confined to his bed, suffering from wounds which are severe.

Orangemen on Parade—A Memorial Lodge.

The Young Britons' Band which returned from Cornwall to-day marched up town in uniform with colors in their hats. A new Orange lodge is to be formed, called the Hackett Lodge, in memory of the man killed yesterday. The scene of the shooting yesterday is thronged with people.

The Victims' Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. Hackett, killed in the riot, will take place Monday at 3 o'clock. He will be buried with full Orange orders.

Roughs Imported—Catholics After Revolvers.

Many of the roughs engaged in the affray yesterday, are supposed strangers, some coming from New York State. The Witness says that a head of the Catholic Union wanted to buy one hundred revolvers on Wednesday from a hardware merchant. Men who were absent from a large establishment yesterday without leave, have been dismissed.

A Weak Disclaimer.

Stephen J. Meany in behalf of the Irish Catholic Union, disclaims any sympathy between that Society and yesterday's troubles

GREAT BRITAIN

Cabinet Councils.

LONDON, July 13. It is stated that Earl Beaconsfield had two interviews with the Queen this week and yesterday the Queen presided at the Cabinet Council in Windsor Castle. The subject is said to be the retirement of a prominent member of the Ministry—not Beaconsfield. The Cabinet were also considering fresh despatches from Austria.

CANADA

LOCAL MATTERS.

Rev. Mr. Thorndyke of Massachusetts will preach at the Union St. M. E. Church to-morrow morning.

Mayor Reed of Bath, has a way of disposing of tramps by setting them at work sweeping streets under a Supervisor.

A gentleman in this city measured the vine of a flowering bean which grew eight inches in a little more than twenty-four hours.

This morning a party of about twelve gentlemen will go to Bucksport, where they will embark on board the yacht Sport for a two weeks cruise down river.

The piratical thief Gray is now wanted in Bath. Deputy Sheriff Perkins of that place was in Portland, Thursday, wanting him if that city was through with him.

Rev. B. H. Lane of Newton, N. H., will supply the pulpit of the Columbia Street Baptist Church to-morrow forenoon and evening. The public are invited. Seats free.

The prayer meeting of the Women's Crusade will be held as usual Sunday evening at the Franklin street Reading Room. All interested in the Gospel temperance work are cordially invited.

This morning our readers will notice the advertisement of Eben Stevens who informs the public that "he has not crossed the Danube yet," and that Jewelry is still manufactured and repaired at the old stand opposite the Court House.

The Rev. John Cotton Smith, D. D., of New York, is the guest of F. F. French, Esq. It was hoped that he would be able to preach to his former parishioners in St. John's Episcopal church, but he is obliged to be at Trinity church, Boston, on Sunday.

Ichabod E. Leighton has purchased the old Fitzpatrick house, which has been in a dilapidated condition for some time, on the corner of Centre and Cumberland streets, and either this season or next he will pull down the old house and put up a nice residence.

The Ogdensburg Railroad will be finished to Swanton to-day, and the officials of the various lines that form the links of the roads leading to Montreal and Chicago via the Portland & Ogdensburg will meet at the Fabyan House to arrange a time table.

Yesterday afternoon Thomas Brennan created considerable excitement for a few minutes on Exchange street while the officers were taking him to the station house. As he did not seem inclined to walk they put him on a jigger and gave him a free ride over.

Yesterday a fine party went down river on the First Baptist excursion. About twenty five of the party stopped at Fort Point and the rest continued to Northport where a most delightful day was spent. On their return they arrived in this city at about half-past eight.

From the terminus of the railroad in Blanchard to Greenville, is about twelve miles, and Messrs. Morrison & Hunting's stage teams usually make the distance in about two hours. Wednesday, the coaches being heavily loaded with excursionists, they were three hours, instead of four as we reported.

Yesterday afternoon we saw a very neat set of portable furniture intended for the camp-ground at Northport. It was made by a young man in Brewer who intends to go there next week. There were several improvements, the value of which would readily suggest themselves to those who are intending to spend a few weeks at the camp-ground.

Yesterday afternoon, Henry Revel, of Brewer, got his horse into the river. He was trying to haul a spar out of the water on to the wharf and had one end of the spar fastened by a chain to the forward wheels of his cart. He started the horse and succeeded in getting the spar part way up, when the horse stepped and the weight of the stick dragged him over into the water. A boat was near at hand and the horse was towed above the ship-yard where he was taken out uninjured.

FINE BOATS. Mr. Henry J. Leach of Brewer, is now engaged in building four very nice boats at his boat shop for the new ship L. J. Morse. The long boat is twenty-six feet in length, seven and a half feet beam and thirty-eight inches in depth. The surf boat, which is sharp at both ends is twenty-two feet in length, six and a half feet beam, and thirty-four inches in depth. The quarter boat is twenty feet in length, five feet beam, and twenty-eight inches in depth. The Captain's gig, which is one of the finest boats we have ever seen, being finished in cherry and oak, is fifteen feet in length, four feet and four inches beam, and twenty inches in depth.

From Dover.

The business interests of Dover and Foxcroft have received a serious check by the burning of the spool-factory of I. H. Dwelley & Co., which occurred Thursday night. Mr. Dwelley, as was his usual custom, rode up around the factory about 10 o'clock p. m., to see that everything was safe. On approaching the building he heard the sound of escaping steam, and hastened to the boiler-room but found it impossible to enter because of the steam with which the building was filled. Almost instantly the flames broke out, and although the alarm was instantly given and assistance soon at hand, the fire spread with such rapidity as to defy all efforts to extinguish it. The safe was removed and a small quantity of machinery saved, but the smoke was so dense it was impossible to work in the building, and comparatively nothing was saved. A large quantity of valuable sawed timber was piled within a few feet of the building and a stream from one of the two engines was directed upon that, hoping to save it, but the heat was so great as to render it impossible for the hosemen to do much, so the lumber was destroyed. At the time of the fire the factory was being run to its fullest capacity, with a large number of orders ahead.

The business employed a large number of men and boys engaged in getting out and cutting up the timber and manufacturing the spools, and even if the factory is rebuilt they must be unemployed for some time or leave town to obtain work. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been the bursting of a steam-pipe, but it is not known certainly. It was very fortunate that no wind was blowing or the fire might have spread to other buildings. The engines were on the ground Friday guarding against the possibility of danger from the ruins, which were still burning.

Messrs. Dwelley & Co. estimate their loss at $80,000; insured for $12,000. It is not known whether the factory will be rebuilt or not, but it is to be hoped it will.

THINK FOR YOURSELF.

Thousands lead miserable lives, suffering from dyspepsia, a disordered stomach and liver, producing biliousness, heartburn, costiveness, weakness, irregular appetite, low spirits, raising food after eating, and often ending in fatal attacks of fever. THEY KNOW THEY ARE SICK, yet get little sympathy. The unfailing remedy, which is yearly restoring thousands, is DaCosta's Radical Cure. Sold by Wm. E. Mann, J. F. Patten, N. S. Harlow, Bangor. R. B. Stover, Bucksport. A 25c bottle will convince you of its merits. Don't delay another hour after reading this, but go and get a bottle, and your relief is as certain as you live. Will you do it or will you continue to suffer? Think for yourself.

Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup is perfectly safe and extremely palatable. No physic required. Costs 25 cents. Try it.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC. In the experienced atmosphere here during the summer months, the lethargy produced by the heat takes away the desire for wholesome food, and frequent perspirations reduce bodily energy, particularly those suffering from the effects of debilitating diseases. In order to keep a natural healthful activity of the system, we must resort to artificial means. For this purpose Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is very effectual. A few doses will create an appetite and give fresh vigor to the enervated body. For dyspepsia, it is invaluable. Many eminent physicians have doubted whether dyspepsia can be permanently cured by the drugs which are generally employed for that purpose. The Sea Weed Tonic in its nature is totally different from such drugs. It contains no corrosive minerals or acids; in fact it assists the regular operations of nature, and supplies her deficiencies. The tonic in its nature so much resembles the gastric juice that it is almost identical with that fluid. The gastric juice is the natural solvent which, in a healthy condition of the body, causes the food to be digested; and when this juice is not excreted in sufficient quantities, indigestion, with all its distressing symptoms, follows. The Sea Weed Tonic performs the duty of the gastric juice when the latter is deficient. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic sold by all druggists.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

This elegant preparation is prepared from the TRUE Jamaica Ginger, combined with choice aromatics and genuine French Brandy, and is vastly superior to every other Extract or Essence of Ginger before the public—all of which are prepared with alcohol by the old process.

CHOLERA MORBUS,

Cramps, Pains, Diarrhoea, and Dysentery are instantly relieved by it. It will relieve an attack of Cholera Morbus if taken when the symptoms of this dangerous complaint first manifest themselves.

CRAMPS AND PAINS,

whether produced by indigestion, improper food, change of water or diet, too free indulgence in ice water, exposure to sudden changes of temperature, are immediately relieved by it. One ounce added to a gallon of and sweetened, forms a mixture which is cooling, healthy, and refreshing Summer Beverage, has no equal. Barrels of ice water, prepared in this way, may be drank without the slightest injury, and happy is the man who finds in this a substitute for spirituous liquors. Its value to the farmer, the Mechanic, and Laborer cannot be over estimated. It is so cheap as to be within the reach of all, so finely flavored as to be enjoyed by lovers of the choicest liquors.

DYSPEPSIA,

Flatulency, Sluggish Digestion, want of Tone and Activity in the Stomach and Bowels, Oppression after Eating, are sure to be relieved by a single dose taken after each meal. A great want exists for a free from serious objections, yet palatable, even inviting to the sensitive palate, which will create no morbid appetite for itself, and operate as an assistant to digestion, as well as perform the functions of a stimulant. Such we confidently believe is to be found in an elegant combination of the True Jamaica Ginger with the Choicest Aromatics. It is honestly comparison the most healthy, invigorating tonic and stimulant before the public. It is earnestly recommended to the weak and nervous, to those recovering from debilitating diseases, and to the aged, to whom it imparts warmth and vigor.

$50 Reward will be paid for a bottle of any other Extract or Essence of Jamaica Ginger if found to equal it in fine flavor, purity and prompt medicinal effect. Largest, Cheapest, and Best. Take no other until you have given it a trial. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, Grocers, and Dealers in Medicines. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS.

Dear Sir—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, Vegetine, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I never could breathe any more, and Vegetine has cured me; and I do feel to thank God all the time that there is so good a medicine as Vegetine, and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs, and weak, sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the Vegetine, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

 Abbott

was bred by Col. H. S. Russell, owner of "Smuggler," and is recorded in second Vol. of Wallace's Stud Book. This superior young Horse is a beautiful blood bay color with black points, stands 15½ hands high, weighs 1165 pounds; is very stylish and perfectly kind; never been handled for speed; can show 2.40 gait now. He was sired by "TATTLER" (record 2:26 as a five-year-old.) Dam by "MAMBRINO CHIEF," sire of the famous "Lady Thorn," record of 2:18½.

"Blood will Tell."

"Voltaire," his brother in blood, won a race in Boston, June 5th, over a field of 13, in 2d, 3d and 5th heat, getting a record of 2:24, showing both speed and bottom.

Hoping to see a better and more stylish class of Road Horses, as well as Trotting Stock in this State, I shall let this splendid Horse stand this season at the extremely low price of $20, payable at time of service. (Cash or satisfactory note.) Mares not proving in foal can be returned next season FREE OF CHARGE.

FREE!

For the purpose of introducing our valuable Washing Preparation known as the Housewife's Friend, we will send to any address, on receipt of two three cent stamps to prepay postage, a sample package free.

This preparation is unlike any other, it being as harmless as Spring Water. Clothing washed with it will wear longer, as they need no rubbing unless badly soiled. Its effect on hard water is almost magical, making it as soft as rain water. It really costs nothing to use it as it saves more than its cost in soap and fuel, to say nothing of the time and labor saved. It is hoped that all who have washing to do will avail themselves of the free trial package. We want some reliable person in every town to introduce and keep for sale this really valuable and fast selling article. Address

FREEDOM WHEELER'S CONTROVERSY WITH PROVIDENCE

A Story of New England

BY ROSE TERRY COOKE.

IN TWO PARTS.—I.

Little Love stayed at home with old Hepsy and prattled all day long in the kitchen. Lowly could not spare the sweet voice from her hearing, and saw the need of all its comfort, for when Freedom came home from Dorset Centre a great grief lay day by Lowly in the bed, and it is welcome from the mother had been bitter tears whose traces still shone on her wan face, from the father came far bitter words, curses—in all but the wording, for Freedom was a "professor," and profanity was a sin. Mint and anise and cumin he tithed scrupulously, but mercy and judgement fled from him and hid their shamefaced heads. Aunt Huldah and Aunt Hannah could their fussy pudding but day after the custom of their forefathers, and ate it with unflinching countenances, but Lowly fasted in her secret soul, and since her husband getting remarked, "Taint nothin' to me what you call her, gals ain't worth cavilin' anyhow"; the new baby was baptized Marah, and he hated herself neither with the unpropitious misconduct of Shem Ham and Japheth nor the joint sweetness of Love, Joy, quite of defiance of her name, was the merriest, maddest little grig that could be, afraid of nothing and nobody, but as submissive to Lowly as a lamb could be, and full of fight when Sol Shub thought to handle or beat her. Lowly's milksop, he kept her wood pile by the shed door well heaped, and was even known to swing the heavy dasher per-ish the cream. It it was fall and weary.

"For the land's sakes!" exclaimed Aunt Hannah. "What's necessity to Freedom? He does not know a thing decent, Lowly."

Aunt Huldah shook her capacious head up and down, and looked sagacious as an owl. "Don't you mind, Lowly, how Lem Hunkins used to handle? Jest like, or we'll be bound, more'n three days' babies found I'm an old man now. Wonder why mortals ever be born, that's I'm sure."

"I'm glad one of 'em never failed to love me," murmured Aunt Hannah.

"Hoity! snubbed Aunt Huldah, "you think I'm afeared of Freedom, you're plum mistook. I've spanked him two offences, to goodness I'd ha' spanked him a heap more, he did but he's been the better for it. Aunt to Meet I had the pain of often, Hannah. For was class of mussy mother Freedom come to us. Jest as she had friend. Land! what a lesson he was! his folks never done him no harm, but I'm sure he did. I'm a mate."

I had had to do, and always was and always will be, and I'm sure I'm a mate. Freedom was a born child, and I'm sure he did. Freedom was a born child, and I'm sure he did.

"Why, don't you see, Hannah, how it is? Freedom's got a spirit of his own, and he's got a spirit of his own, and he's got a spirit of his own, and he
